

MORNING APPEAL

FRIDAY.....MAY 9

THE SURVEYOR-GENERAL'S OFFICE.

The Carson Tribune and Reno Journal do not like the idea of having the office of the Surveyor-General removed to Winnemucca. They offer no valid objection, however, to the proposed change, doubtless for the reason that they have none to offer. Winnemucca is the most centrally located town in Nevada. The people could assemble here quicker and at less expense than any other place in the State. If Government officers should be located at the most accessible place Winnemucca should have the Surveyor-General's office but if partisan considerations determine where they shall be located, then of course Carson or Reno have claims superior to Winnemucca. Here the office would be equidistant from the land offices of Eureka and Carson and it would cost residents of Carson, Virginia and Reno no more to get to the office here than it would the residents of Elko, Eureka and Austin.

If the powers that be desire to accommodate the people they will order the Surveyor-General's office removed to Winnemucca, but if their object is to please partisans, regardless of the inconvenience it may cause the public, the office will be kept on one side of the State within a few miles of the California line.—Silver State.

"SINK PARTISANISM."

The Silver State has a long editorial directed against Congressman Bartine and holds him responsible because a free coinage bill is not already passed and signed by the President.

The article is so worded that it is intended to injure Bartine if he again runs for Congress. It closes the article with the following:

Every mining camp, village and farming community in the State should send petitions to Congress to pass a free coinage bill. Let us here in Nevada sink partisanship and for the time make remonetization, which means the reopening of old mines and the development of new ones, the only issue of the campaign.

The italics are ours. If the Silver State wishes the press to sink partisanship it is setting a rather poor example.

The Effort of His Life.

The New York Sun of last Monday said:

When the silver bill is taken up for consideration in the Senate on Wednesday next, Senator Jones of Nevada will make the second great speech of his life. It is an open secret in the Senate that the duty of reporting the silver bill from the Finance Committee and of steering it through the Senate was assigned to Mr. Jones for the purpose of giving him an opportunity to boom his prospects of reelection. His term expires next March and there are several ambitious gentlemen who will endeavor to succeed him.

Senator Sherman has announced on the floor of the Senate that he thinks it necessary for that body to have a rule similar to that of the House which authorizes the presiding officer to count those present and not voting when it becomes necessary in order to make a quorum. The Democratic Senators, like their brethren in the House, object to this rule, but it will be adopted notwithstanding.

It is now generally believed that Speaker Reed's idea of an adjournment by the first of July will be endorsed by Republican caucuses of both Houses. Aside from the regular appropriation bills, all those which are in an advanced state, the tariff bill, the silver bill, the service pension bill, and perhaps, but not certain, a Federal election bill, will be passed before adjournment. The Democratic leaders tried their best to work up a sentiment in their party against early adjournment, but owing to the fact that the most of the members, of both parties, are anxious to be in their respective districts as early as possible this year, but failed.

JUVENILE MASQUERADE—Miss Mary Randall, who has been quite successful as a dancing teacher, will give a juvenile masquerade at Opera House on Friday evening, May 23rd. The music will be furnished by Zimmer & Meder's orchestra. Tickets admitting one, 50 cents; spectators 50 cents; reserved seats on the stage 50 cents extra. All children under 18 admitted to the floor. td*

He knows that what he buys as wool is wool, silk is silk, kid is kid. He is not deceived.
